

RANNEL THEATRE COMPANY

Rannel theatre company are a critically acclaimed physical comedy duo known for their hilarious, energetic and unexpected sketches. Their break through Edinburgh show “Flhip Flhop” took the 2009 Fringe by storm quickly selling out and gaining several 5 star reviews.

During the last four years, Rannel have toured and performed extensively in the UK, Australia and Northern Europe bringing their unique brand of urban skills with a comedic twist.

Rannel have collaborated with the BBC creating sketches for their comedy website and most recently starred and performed in a nationwide advertising campaign for McDonalds (Three is the magic number)

Rannel Theatre Company is a creative partnership between two extremely talented and versatile performers, JoeyD and Matt Bailey.